Fred W. Baker and Dr. E. J. Foster-Eddy Parties to Christian Science Suit.

ALLEGATIONS IN PETITION

MRS. EDDY A PRISONER IN HER OWN HOUSE.

Concord, N. H., March 11.—Fred W. Baker of Boston, N. H., second cousin of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy and Dr. E. J. Foster-Eddy of Waterbury, Vermont, Mrs. Eddy's adopted son, have become additional parties plaintiff, as "next friends" of Mrs. Eddy to the bill in equity brought to secure an accounting of her property against leaders of the Christian Science church.

In joining the bill in equity Dr. Foster-Eddy says in his petition that he has "become convinced that Mrs. Eddy is and for a long time has been incapable of intelligently conducting or receiving an account of her business and property and that the same is being managed wholly by the defendants without giving a proper accounting thereof."

Fred Baker's Story.
Fred W. Baker, in his petition, says that he is a second cousin of Mrs. Eddy and that in September, 1896, he was sent by his employers to examine and report and after certain carriages of Mrs. Eddy. He made known to Mrs. Eddy his relationship to her and she treated him cordially, inviting him to remain in the house, which he did one night. She invited him to visit her with his wife and children at any time. Mr. Frye, however, told him he ought not to make that visit.

During the past year Mrs. Eddy twice offering to avail himself of her invitation to visit her, but he received no reply, and he believes that she was not permitted to see either of the letters.

Frye Kept Him Out.
In September of 1905 he said he decided to make an effort to see Mrs. Eddy. He went to Concord and to her house and Mr. Frye refused him the privilege of seeing her.

He believes, he said in his petition, that Mrs. Eddy is virtually a prisoner in her own house; that she is kept secluded by the defendants, Frye and others, and that she is not capable under her conditions, of managing her own business.

Mrs. Eddy sent her carriage today for her counsel, former Congressman Henry M. Baker, who made a long call on Mrs. Eddy, and on his return he said he had discussed with Mrs. Eddy both personal and legal matters. He said that she was in her usual health and spirits, and that while she was concerned about the pending proceedings he did not think they would have any injurious effect upon her.

BOY NEARLY DROWNED.
Delivery Wagon Driver Takes Chance in the River.
A careless delivery wagon driver was responsible for what came near costing him his life as well as that of the horse which he was driving. Underestimating the force of the current of the Ogden river, the young man urged his horse into the stream as a short cut across to the opposite side. When the channel was reached, horse and wagon were swept away by the current. With great difficulty they were rescued about 100 feet further down the river. This is the third accident of this kind within a week. In one case a horse was drowned, the driver escaping.

The furniture, however, was saved. The house was occupied by F. Wardleigh and Earl Cairne and their families. The blaze started under the roof of the porch and was first noticed by the neighbors. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The loss will reach about $100.

WON'T KEEP COX AT PROVO.
Man Sent to Asylum is Returned to His People.
The Weber county board of commissioners put in another all-day session yesterday and although they considered many matters they accomplished but little. Shortly before adjourning they learned that George S. Cox, who was committed to the state mental hospital by a short time ago, had been released from the institution. Since his return to his people, according to the statement of relatives, he has frequently indulged in the pastime of butting his head against the wall in an effort to end his existence. Inquiry at the hospital by telephone brought the information from Dr. Calder that the hospital authorities had acted upon the advice of the state mental board in refusing to accept Cox. Now the commissioners will consult the county attorney and see if there is no way to compel the hospital people to comply with the order of the court in which Cox was committed. Cox is 35 years of age, and while the legal end of the difficulty is being straightened out he will make his home with relatives here and be unrestrained in his efforts to but out his existence. The commissioners decided that the county physician should be a member of all boards of examining physicians in insane cases from this county. The clerk was accordingly instructed to convey the information to the county physician that he should so act, without any increase in salary.

Upon the complaint of a resident of the county that gophers and mice were destroying many of the trees, orders were issued for the distribution of arsenic to get rid of the pests.

Commissioner McKay, in whose district the canyon road is situated, took occasion to deny reports that had been published by some papers as to the condition of that thoroughfare as well as the road leading to Huntsville. He said these roads were in as good condition as it was possible to put them in during the rainy season and that as soon as the weather conditions permitted the same would be restored to their former good condition.

stated that the man had gone to the Fashion rooming house with a woman, and that since that time she had mysteriously disappeared. It is now said that the woman is the wife of a Colorado man and that the two had eloped. It is supposed that the couple quarreled here, the woman leaving the man in a rage, which would supply a cause for the rash act.

Almost every clue that has been discovered so far has been run down without success. The two remaining clues are the woman and a man living in Goldfield to whom the body was found. The man was in the mining business; that he formerly was located in Colorado, and afterward in Goldfield, that by previous agreement the couple had agreed to meet in Ogden, and that after doing so they quarreled. The woman is still believed to be in the state and a strong effort will be made to locate her.

WON'T PAY THE CLAIMS.

Council Committee Against Settling High Water Demands.

The city council spent much of its time last evening in considering the claims that have been sent in by property owners for damages done by the recent high water. The law committee recommended that the bills for damages presented by the Ogden Canyon Sanitarium company and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway company, aggregating $30,000, be not allowed.

J. T. Miller, 2402 Murray avenue, presented a bill for $200, also for damages from water. The council decided to pay Thirty-second street from Washington avenue to Porter avenue. This action was taken upon resolution made by the residents of Thirty-second street, who agree to stand the greater portion of the expense. The improvement league against the council to pave Wall avenue between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets. The petition went to the street committee.

HAMER NAMED REFEREE.

Testimony in Suit of Fifty-seven Men Against Waterworks Co.

In the federal court before Judge John A. Marshall yesterday the case of Thomas England and fifty-six others against the Ogden Waterworks company was taken up. It was thought that the suit would occupy several months' time on account of the great amount of testimony to be taken. The matter was brought to a sudden close by the announcement that upon the suggestion of the court, counsel had mutually agreed that the testimony be taken before Referee Daniel Hamer and the court to render his decision from the record. The damages asked for in this action aggregate more than $20,000 and arises from the alleged appropriation by the defendant company of water from the Ogden river to which the plaintiffs claim a prior right.

SUES FOR LAND AND MONEY

Action Begun Against W. H. Bennett by Light Company.

In connection with the recent purchase of a parcel of land on Twenty-third street by the Utah Light & Railway company, upon which it was desired to erect a sub-power station, an action was filed in the district court yesterday by the railway people for the right to the property and $2,000 damages. W. H. Bennett, the former owner of the land, is making the defendant. It is alleged that after signing the contract for the sale of the property for consideration of $4,000, he refused to deliver the goods and the deal was closed. The deal was completed through a real estate agency here which was acting for Bennett. The company claims that it was damaged to the extent of $2,000 by the holding back of the land.
